In a mid-campaign shocker, Gubernatorial candidate Bill Simon has - quite literally - switched teams! "It all started when Rich Tafel gave me a tube of AstroGlide, a Star of Bethlehem butt plug, and told me to go find God. After lying dormant for years, my cold, cruel heart melted. I couldn't hide behind my misogynistic, money grubbing, soul destroying dogma anymore," Simon did not say at a recent press conference while caressing his pecs and generally creeping everyone out. "I love men!"

"If it weren't for those tasty Log Cabin boys, I wouldn't have even joined the Republican Party. Man, can they party!?! Rich in a chocolate dipped thong is the only proof I need that our political process is successful, indeed," Simon also did not say while drooling on a well-loved copy of Playgirl. "They can filibuster my bill anytime!"

"I didn't even want to be a politician. I've always felt that ballet is my true calling," Simon did not continue. "But Daddy Will [Simon Sr., former Treasury Secretary] set me up to play politician. He said I could go on television and wear make up and be pretty and pinch all the tight behinds I could find. He even let me wear my tutu and toe shoes during conference calls. I even have a fairy wand."

Simon plans to take an apartment in San Francisco's Castro neighborhood but he does not plan to divorce his wife, Cindy, because she "likes to watch."

ARE YOU AN APRIL FOOL? THIS IS A JOKE.

C.G.N.I.E. Seeks Support For Annual Ball

Dear Editor,

Court of the Great Northern Imperial Empire, Inc. (C.G.N.I.E.) is a nonprofit community-based organization recognized and registered with the State of California. Our primary goal is to support our community. We have provided financial assistance to C.A.R.E.S., Avalon House, Hand to Hand, Francis House, Samaritan Center, and U.C. Davis Medical Center Pediatric AIDS Unit for many years. Through our fundraising efforts we have been able to provide these and other organizations with support services.

One of our major fundraising events is our annual Coronation Ball, where we select a new Emperor and Empress to represent our community during the year. Our Coronation Ball is slated for April 27, 2002 at Turn Verin Hall.

We are preparing a souvenir program and asking local community businesses to support us by taking out ads. A copy of the souvenir program is given to everyone attending the ball and those businesses placing advertisement.

We thank you for your generosity and support of our efforts to continue assisting the Sacramento community.

Sincerely,
Paul Becerra
C.G.N.I.E. President

Boxer & Daschle Make Promise To Community

Dear Editor,

Last month, I had the pleasure of speaking to the Los Angeles Gala Dinner of the Human Rights Campaign (HRC). It was an inspiring evening. HRC Executive Director Elizabeth Birch gave a moving presentation of the losses of our nation on September 11, recounting the number of gay and lesbian heroes killed that day. Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle provided the keynote address, with a review of victories for equality won and progress not yet achieved.

Senator Daschle made the Employment Non-Discrimination Act (ENDA) of 2001 a focus of his talk. This legislation, S.1284, would prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation by most government agencies, employment agencies, and training programs. It is a critical step on the path to eliminating discrimination.

ENDA currently has 43 Senate sponsors. Senator Kennedy just recently held a hearing in the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee to hear testimony from executives representing some of the most prestigious and influential labor organizations and corporations in the nation. At the HRC dinner, Senator Daschle pledged a vote on this bill before the session ends this year. You can count on me to do everything I can to ensure its passage. Making this bill law will not be easy, but it is essential to fulfilling the American promise of equality and justice.

I would be happy to hear your thought's on this or any other matter.

Senator Barbara Boxer

Trial Verdict Brings Justice For Diane Whipple

BY NICOLE MASHAFI
MGW STAFF

LOS ANGELES, CA - The trial in the dog mauling death of Diane Whipple drew to a close on Thursday, March 21. The jury found defendant Marjorie Knoller, 46, guilty of second-degree murder, involuntary manslaughter, and keeping a dangerous animal.

She is the first person ever to be convicted of murder in a dog-mauling case in California. Her husband, Robert Noel, was found guilty of manslaughter and similar dangerous animal charges. The five women and seven men of the jury took just eleven hours to deliberate on a trial that lasted almost a month.

Knoller faces fifteen years to life in prison. Noel, 60, who Sharon Smith, Diane Whipple's partner of seven years, plans to proceed with her wrongful death civil suit against Marjorie Knoller and Robert Noel.

Pacific Heights apartment on January 26, 2001 when she was attacked by two Presa Canario dogs owned by Knoller and Noel.

Knoller returned from walking the dogs outside about the same time Whipple, who was a lacrosse coach at Saint Mary's College, arrived at home. The 120-pound dogs, Bane and Hera, were still attached to their leashes when they dragged Knoller fifteen feet down the hall, pinned Whipple against a wall, and mauled her for about five minutes before Knoller could force them into her apartment.

Although each dog's role in the attack is unknown, police believe Bane, a male who was two-years old at the time, initiated the attack. Hera, a two-year-old female, probably joined moments later. Knoller denied that Hera was involved at all. Animal control officers needed three tranquilizers to remove Bane from Knoller and Noel's apartment. He was destroyed the night of the attack. Hera was seized pending a criminal investigation.

Whipple was bitten literally from head to toe. She suffered almost eighty wounds including several deep bites on her neck. She died five hours later at San Francisco General Hospital.

Trial Verdict Brings Justice For Diane Whipple

Penitentiary inmates Paul "Cornfed" Schneider and Dale Bretches. Noel and Knoller, who are both defense attorneys, represented Schneider and Bretches in court. Both inmates are open members of the Aryan Brotherhood and known members of the Aryan prison gang.

Knoller admits the dogs were mistreated by their original owners, but denies that they were trained to kill. In a bizarre twist, Knoller and Noel adopted Schneider, who bred the dogs, just days after the attack on January 29, 2001. Schneider, 39, is serving a life sentence for aggravated assault and attempted murder.

The fight in court began even before criminal charges were filed. Whipple's partner of seven years, Sharon Smith, filed a wrongful death suit against Knoller and Noel on March 12, 2001. However Smith and Whipple were not registered domestic partners and Whipple did not leave a will, so Smith first had to determine whether the court would hear her case. At the time, state law did not give same sex couples wrongful death rights.

Robert Noel

Four months later Smith, 36, received permission from San Francisco Judge A. James Robertson II to proceed. Knoller and Noel have appealed the ruling. In conjunction with the decision Assemblywoman Carole Migden (D-San Francisco) wrote AB 25, a bill designed to expand domestic partnership rights and responsibilities. Since it specifically extends wrongful death sign AB 25 into law. Among other additions, AB 25 affects domestic partners' unemployment benefits, health insurance, and guardianship of adopted children.

On March 27, 2001 a grand jury indicted Knoller on a charge of second-degree murder. Both Noel and Knoller faced charges of involuntary manslaughter and keeping a mischievous dog.

Judge James Warren moved the trial to Los Angeles to escape overwhelming media attention. Prosecutors and defense attorneys were concerned that the jury pool was affected.

During twelve hours of testimony Knoller alternately cried and chastised critics and media.

She denied that the dogs had ever been aggressive although several witnesses, including Hera's veterinarian, testified that the dogs had intimidated, lunged at, and bitten them. Noel, who did not testify, was hospitalized after Bane bit him during a dog fight. Smith testified that she was terrified of the dogs after one bit Whipple about a month before the fatal attack.

In a post-verdict San Francisco Chronicle interview, Smith said, "There's no real joy in this but certainly some measure of justice for Diane was done today. I'm glad to see the jury didn't buy some of the smokescreens that were put in front of them."

Whipple's mother Penny Whipple-Kelly stated, "Marjorie, from what I could see, never took any responsibility until it was convenient for her to do so at trial. Or Mr. (Noel)...they had tried all along to blame my daughter and anybody else that they possibly could instead of looking at themselves." ▼ rights to same sex couples, Smith spoke publicly in support of the bill. Her speech on Whipple's death before state lawmakers may have been instrumental in its success.

In September 2001, the state Senate amended and passed AB 25 with a 23-11. The Assembly then passed the updated bill with a 42-29 vote. Governor Gray Davis held a special ceremony on October 14, 2001 to

Audi Sponsors New York Times Speaker Series

NEW YORK CITY, NY — The New York Times announced that Audi of America, Inc. will become the official automotive sponsor of the TimesTalks GLBT speaker series. The first of this year's TimesTalks were held in New York City on Saturday, March 16 during the ninth annual New York Lesbian and Gay Business and Entertainment Expo. Times columnist Stuart Elliott hosted a discussion titled "I Want My Gay TV!" that examined creating cable channels specifically for GLBT viewers. Three other events are scheduled in New York City.

The Times will partner with James C. Hormel Gay and Lesbian Center and the San Francisco Public Library to produce two additional programs in San Francisco. Events in the TimesTalks series will be announced periodically in The New York Times. ▼

Military Discharges Reach Record Levels

WASHINGTON D.C. — Servicemembers Legal Defense Network (SLDN) reported that a record number of discharges and harassment complaints were filed during 2001. SLDN Executive Director C. Dixon Osburn criticized the Pentagon for failing to curb anti-GLBT harassment and discharges. "They should not be denied their freedom at home," he said. "Congress should repeal 'Don't Ask, Don't Tell.'"

According to Department of Defense figures, the Pentagon fired a record 1,250 men and women, or three to four service members every day, for being GLBT. It is the highest number of discharges since 1987, seven years prior to the implementation "Don't Ask, Don't Tell." The current policy requires GLBT service members to keep their sexual orientation secret or face expulsion from the armed forces. SLDN reported 1,075 incidents of anti-GLBT harassment in 2001, up from 871 in 2000.

SLDN also found that the armed forces, throughout every branch, have virtually ignored a July 2000 Pentagon Anti-Harassment Action Plan, a thirteen point plan designed to curb harassment. Adopted by then-Secretary of Defense William Cohen, the plan was developed in response to the murder of PFC Barry Winchell in July 1999 by fellow soldiers who thought Winchell was gay.

The Army led in anti-GLBT discharges for 2001, with 616 people losing their jobs. Discharges from Fort Campbell totaled 222, more than any other Army installation, and 36% of total Army discharges. The Air Force discharged 191 service members — up from 177. Navy discharges totaled 314, which is down from 358 in 2000. The Marine Corps discharged 115 men and women, up from 114, and Coast Guard discharges for 2001 totaled fourteen, down from nineteen in 2000.

These numbers do not include discharges during "Operation Enduring Freedom," as the Pentagon's fiscal year ended September 30, 2001. Though stop-loss orders temporarily suspend some discharges, they specifically allow GLBT discharges to continue. ▼

Governor Davis Forms Working Group

SACRAMENTO, CA — Governor Gray Davis announced that his office will form an advisory committee to address issues and concerns that affect the GLBT community. The group's main goal will be to review how the state can enact civil union legislation. Davis' staff is currently selecting twelve to fifteen people to serve in the group. Meetings could begin as early as this summer.

"I am establishing a task force to review what Vermont has done to find out if any of those measures are applicable to California," Davis told the Bay Area Reporter. "This is a relatively new concept. Vermont is the only place which has adopted it."

Jean Harris, executive director of California Alliance for Pride and Equality said, "We applaud the Governor's action in forming this GLBT working group. It demonstrates his continued leadership and commitment to address the inequities lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender Californians face on a daily basis. It is unprecedented and puts California in the right direction."

Davis's announcement comes two months after a Vermont-style civil union bill was tabled by an Assembly committee. Assemblyman Paul Koretz (D-West Hollywood), who wrote the bill, will continue pushing for civil union legislation in California. ▼

Transsexual's Inheritance Case Denied

TOPEKA, KA — A transsexual's claim for half of her late husband's $2.5 million estate was rejected by the state Supreme Court, which ruled marriage between a man and a transsexual woman is not valid. State law prohibits same sex marriages but does not address marriages involving transsexuals.

J'Noel Gardiner completed a sex change operation years before meeting Marshall Gardiner. When Marshall died shortly after their marriage, his son, Joe Gardner, learned J'Noel was born male and challenged the marriage. Joe received Marshall's entire estate after the court ruling. ▼

Sacramento Men's Chorus Spring Concert Shimmers

Sacramento Men's Chorus will hold their annual Pride Concert June 23-28.

By MGW Staff

The Sacramento Men's Chorus (SMC) Burn Baby Burn spring concert gave the audience a tribute to Broadway's torch song divas. The talented Todd Troutman accompanied the seventeen men performing in this year's concert on stage. On occasion throughout the evening, chorus artistic director Jude Navari joined Troutman on stage - bringing to Sacramento the spirited music of the Broadway songs so dear to America's audiences.

For this concert, Navari brought a greater number of the men out of the chorus setting, and offered the audience more solo performances. John Wujek's performance of I Don't Know How To Love Him from Jesus Christ Superstar and Paul Jones' rendition of Nobody's Side from Chess were beautifully enunciated and brought whoops and loud applause from the audience. Whatever Lola Wants sung by the chorus's eight-member Entourage group was delightful.

The lighting and set design for the spring concert were something new as well. The unadorned set, together with muted lighting gave Bill Burke an opportunity to key in on the performers with his flawless spotlight work. A job well done!

Burn Baby Burn was presented in the chorus' high-camp format, with boas and winks throughout. Other special effects such as hair glitter (especially fun to see from the balcony), enormous rings that caught Burke's lighting at every turn during Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend, and an assortment of colored hankies in the group's back pockets - revealed during the "I'm very versatile!" line of Let Me Entertain You - added sparkle to the show.

SMC fans can mark down June 23-28 to see their Pride Concert, A Tribute to Gay and Lesbian Composers. ▼

Experience The Power Of One Day

SACRAMENTO, CA - The second annual Sacramento Valley AIDS Walk Will be held Sunday, September 22 beginning on the west steps of the Capitol. Teams need at least five walkers. All funds raised will benefit HIV and AIDS service agencies throughout Sacramento, Yolo, Placer, Nevada, and El Dorado counties. In 2001, the Walk raised over $65,000 for sixteen agencies. The goal for 2002 is to raise $100,000.

Representatives from C.A.R.E.S., Breaking Barriers, AIDS Housing Alliance, CommuniCare Health Centers, Chemical Dependency Center for Women, Sierra Foothills AIDS Foundation, and the Capital City AIDS Fund are already working to gather sponsors and team participants. This year's goal is to double the number of walkers. "We're sure we can do it," said Walk Steering Committee Chair and Breaking Barriers Executive Director John Rambo. "What's really great is that walkers can designate where their pledge dollars will do: to one agency or a general fund. Everybody benefits and it's a lot of fun to participate. ▼

DAVID Edward Kemp

David Edward Kemp

David Edward Kemp died February 4, 2002. He suffered a heart attack and died immediately after a spectacular morning of downhill skiing. David was an expert skier, a raconteur extraordinaire, and a vision-

“He was a lovely, sweet, and gentle man,”

ary. He was the founder and CEO of the Verona Philosophy Company, an exotic debate society.

David actively supported the GLBT community. He attended most events and always had an open checkbook. David was a frequent reader of MGW for the past twenty years.

He was born May 5, 1936 in Newark, Ohio and raised in Daytona, Beach, Florida. He attended Duke University where he was awarded his bachelor's degree, master's degree, and doctorate. He taught clinical psychology at University of Oklahoma Medical School before coming to Sacramento in 1970 to teach at UC Davis Medical School. He went into private practice as a psychotherapist in 1977.

David was well-known for staging elaborate, sometimes extended but always hilarious adventures for his friends. His schemes often involved his passions for sailing, camping, skiing, and dogs.

A resident of Sacramento for thirty years, he is survived by his wife Carolyn Langenkamp, his mother Edna Kemp of Daytona Beach, his daughters Jeri Hunter and Lisa Blickenderfer, sister Judy Miller, and six grandchildren.

David's family committed his ashes to the sea near Daytona Beach. “We played his favorite songs and drank champagne,” said Carolyn. “The dolphins showed up to greet him. He was a lovely sweet, and gentle man.”

Spectacular Sunday

By RANDY HARTLEY
FOOD & WINE EDITOR

Recently, I joined my good friends Hyatt Regency Director of Human Resources Richard Hernandez and Director of Food and Beverage Services Jeffrey Miller at Vines Café for their Sunday brunch extravaganza.

I arrived outside the grand hotel where there was courtesy valet parking at the front door. From that moment on I could not give the staff of the Hyatt enough praise! Everyone was friendly, upbeat, and very professional.

When entering the bright and well-decorated dining area that looks on to a beautiful outside garden, I could not help but notice the fabulous display of fruit, breads, and desserts as I was escorted to our table. Before my first sip of Spanish Cava or taste of the superb food, I could tell that this was going to be a wonderful experience.

After relaxing with a glass of Cava we decided to make the grand tour of the rows of beautifully displayed foods.

We started at the salad bar with fresh mixed greens, spinach, tomato slices, marinated mushrooms, shrimp and apple salad, marinated olives, and a fresh fruit salad. Seafood items included mussels, clams, oysters, chilled shrimp, sashimi, and lox with bagels and cream cheese. The fresh fruit included every possibility of the season at its best.

There were ample assorted cereals, fresh berries, blueberry and bran muffins, assorted Danish and croissants. Breakfast entrees included eggs benedict, cheese blintzes, crepes, Belgian waffles, omelets made to order, bacon, sausage, breakfast potatoes, and scrambled eggs.

There was a carving table with an abundance of carved prime rib roast, roasted ham, or turkey. Grilled chicken, grilled fish, wild rice, steamed vegetables, assorted cheeses, and sliced meats were also available.

Brunch Extravaganza!

The desserts were outstanding and included New York cheesecake, bread pudding, five layer chocolate cake, chocolate covered strawberries, berries, ice cream sundae bar, and assorted mini delicacies.

Beverages included orange juice, Starbucks blend coffee, and a never-ending glass of Cava. Each Sunday there are different themes like French, Italian, Mexican, and other places around the world that offer great cuisine.

We were dining for over two hours and every second was absolutely delightful!

Vines Café is definitely the place to go for special occasions or if you just want to treat yourself or someone special.

The price is only $26 for adults and $13 for children including complimentary valet parking for three hours.

The Hyatt Regency has always been a strong supporter of our community and their Sunday brunch continues to demonstrate their overall commitment to quality food and service. They provide guests with a friendly and caring atmosphere. ▼

Simon Adds Traditional Values Coalition's Sheldon To Campaign Staff

BY NICOLE MASHAFI
MGW STAFF

SACRAMENTO, CA — GOP Gubernatorial candidate Bill Simon made waves recently when he hired Louis Philip "Phil" Sheldon, Jr. for his campaign staff. Sheldon is the son of Reverend Louis Sheldon, Sr., founder of Traditional Values Coalition (TVC). TVC is an Anaheim-based conservative religious organization that opposes abortion and GLBT civil rights and once suggested quarantining people with AIDS.

Sheldon, Jr.'s duties will focus on Simon's online campaign. According to the San Francisco Chronicle, he has already distributed an e-mail stating that Simon is the best candidate to "undo four years of liberalism, homosexuality, and anti-family values in California at the hands of Governor Gray Davis."

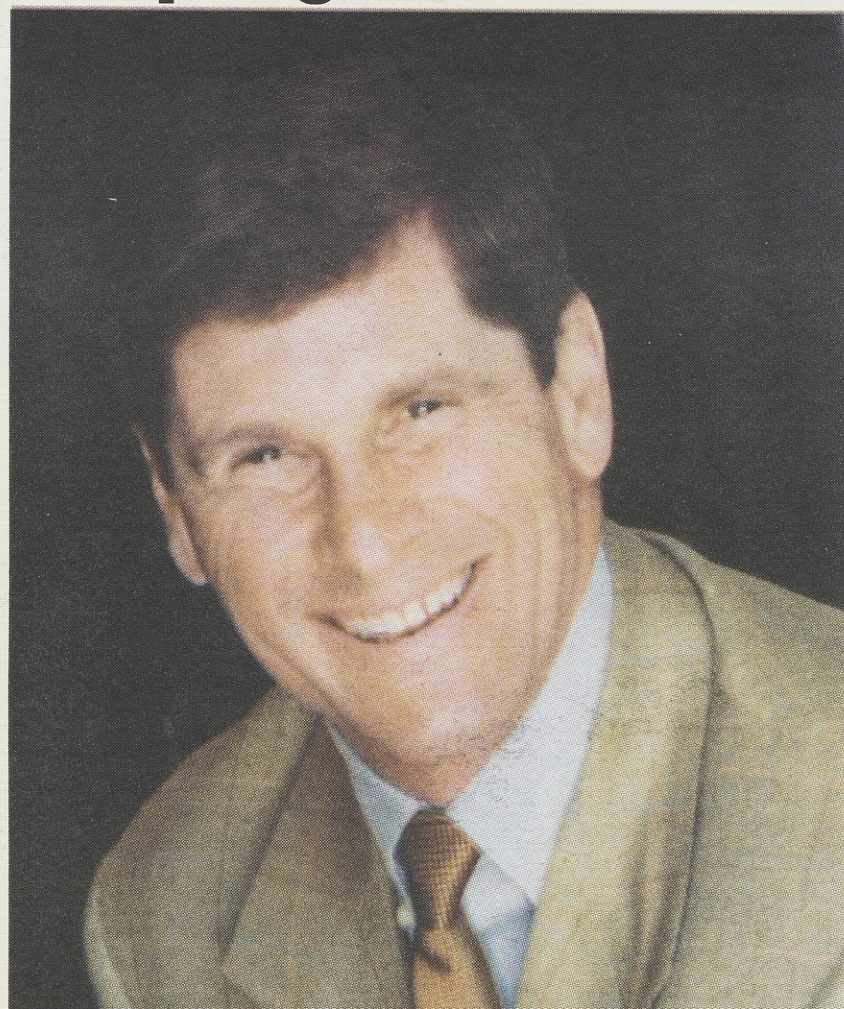

Sheldon Jr. may undo Simon's attempts to downplay his conservative political ideas. During his first post-Primary interview Simon said he would "change the subject" if incumbent Governor Gray Davis brought up social issues. Simon plans to make "the three E's — improving California's economy, education system, and energy supply" the center of his campaign platform.

In an interview with the Chronicle, Simon's campaign manager Sal Russo said Sheldon Jr. is not an "activist" in TVC. "We don't impugn the sins of the father on the son," he continues. "We evaluate people individually."

As recently as last year Sheldon Jr. joined his dad in anti-civil rights campaigns in Maryland and Ohio. Sheldon, Sr. also donated $1,000 to Simon.

Simon is a novice politician that upset Los Angeles Mayor Richard Riordan in California's March 5 Primary Election. ▼

A Musical Journey Through The Human Spirit

Melonnee Desiree is scheduled to perform after this year's Rainbow Festival at Club 21.

BY CHARI L. HUG
MGW STAFF

Melonnee Desiree. "Sweet Fire Woman" Released March 2002.

Passion. Strength. Soul. Anger. All words describing the songs on Melonnee Desiree's latest CD entitled "Sweet Fire Woman." While real life experience moves her, talent really drives the music home. Melonnee's style includes rock, R&B, and blues, which reveals this singer, songwriter, musician, producer, and recording artist's, desire and ability to express her sensual, sassy, intelligent, powerful, in-your-face attitude as well as her tender and compassionate side.

“While real life experience moves her, talent really drives the music home”

The CD opens with Cauzin' A Ruckus, a feisty song that rocks you as well as makes you want to jump up and dance, inspiring you to let your hair down for a girl's night out. Sweet Fire Woman is sensual, reminding us of our first time encounters and nights of intense passion. Bringin' Down The Towers moves our hearts, while reminding us of that tragic day forever etched in our memories. Miss Sarah T is playful, yet touching in its intimate expression from one lover to another.

Woman honors the power and spirit within all women and reminds us of the importance in staying connected to our heart and soul. The Rhythm And The Fire reveals the pain of losing a lover, then reuniting with new vengeance. Big Bad Man's driving edge, haunting guitar riffs, and angry "holding-nothing-back" lyrics, lends a voice to all woman who have ever experienced abuse, repression, humiliation, or discrimination and reminds us all that we have the power to stand proud for what we believe. The Mountain reminds us to protect the environment and the importance of taking care of our sweet Mother Earth.

Whether you're dressing up for a girls night out, making love, taking a road trip, need inspiration, ticked-off, or just relaxing in your favorite room listening to music, this CD is definitely one for your collection. Let Melonnee show you her diverse style as you take a journey through the multi-faceted sides of the human spirit.

"Sweet Fire Woman" is available at The Beat and all of Melonnee's performances.▼

Jazz

In April

BY STEFAN GRUENWEDEL
MGW STAFF

For the best in jazz, head out to San Francisco to enjoy San Francisco Jazz's spring season, which consists of six series of concerts, films, panel discussions, and family matinees exploring six eclectic themes under the artistic direction of local saxophone superstar Joshua Redman.

April pays tribute to Sonny Rollins, the incomparable "Saxophone Colossus." Events include one-time-only reinterpretations of Rollins' seminal works performed by all-star ensembles, a special film program of rare footage, and a performance by the legend himself.

The program features will revisit his classic 1962 album "The Bridge" performed by Redman, Bill Frisell, Brian Blade, and Larry Grenadier. The concert will be Sunday, April 7 at Herbst Theatre.

Saxophone stars Joe Lovano, Lew Tabackin, David Sanchez, and Robert Stewart play the Rollins songbook on Sunday, April 14 at Yerba Buena Center for the Arts Theater. And Sonny Rollins himself makes a rare concert appearance on Saturday, April 13 at Masonic Auditorium.

April also features a concert with Cuban singing sensation and Buena Vista Social Club star Omara Portuondo on Friday, April 5 at Masonic Auditorium. The last concert of the "In The Groove" series will star the Larry Goldings Trio and Dr. Lonnie Smith featuring James Carter on April 27 at Bimbo's 365 Club. ▼

Father Of The Punjabi Bride

BY STEFAN GRUENWEDEL
MGW STAFF

Those Punjabis sure know how to party. According to director Mira Nair, they are to India what the Italians are to Europe: they work hard, party hard, and have a huge appetite for life. Not surprisingly, their weddings are lavish affairs.

In Monsoon Wedding, Nair pays tribute to her hometown of Delhi, where tradition abuts modernity at every turn. Here old-fashioned rug merchants carry cell phones, for example, and people's patter jumps effortlessly between Hindi and Punjabi, with English phrases thrown in for good measure.

Nair's Monsoon Wedding exhibits such contrasts in its story, music, locations, and actors. There's an arranged marriage with an existing love interest to contend with. Traditional ceremonies and music compete with modern dance and pop music for people's attention. Scenes shot at the secluded upper-middleclass estate are contrasted with the city bustle of Delhi in which rich merchants and customers rub elbows with beggars and street urchins. Actors who are quite well known in India are paired with relative unknowns.

In this beautiful story (photographed by Declan Quinn, who also shot Nair's Kama Sutra: A Tale of Love), Aditi (Vasundhara Das) faces an arranged marriage to Hemant (Parvin Dabas), a good-looking Indian engineer from Houston. Unfortunately for him, she's still in love with her older (and married) ex-boss. Fortunately for her, this admission never erupts into a full-blown scandal. However, that doesn't prevent an even greater problem from flaring up when her unmarried cousin Ria (Shafali Shetty) reveals a disturbing secret she's kept hidden for years about a close family relative.

Meanwhile, Aditi's harried father (Naseeruddin Shah) attempts to avoid total chaos surrounding the festivities' arrangements by barking orders to the self-important wedding coordinator, (Vijay Raaz), who's too busy falling in love with the family's nubile cook (Tilotama Shome) to look after his workers much.

To make matters worse, Aditi's little brother Varun (the director's cousin, Ishaan Nair), who's busy teaching his female cousin groovy dance steps when he's not watching cooking shows on TV, balks at the idea of having to attend boarding school after the wedding so his grades will improve. He makes a huge fuss like the drama queen that he surely will be when he grows up.

Nair balances the film's romantic and dramatic elements nicely and never lets one outweigh the other. It might have been nice to see more character development, but given the size of Aditi's extended family, that's impossible for a two-hour movie. (Heck, most weddings are too big and too short for any family member to get to know someone they haven't seen in years, or ever before.)

Neither family complications nor the intermittent monsoon rains ruin the joyousness of this wedding day. The colorful costumes and music that permeate Monsoon Wedding make this film a real feast for the eyes and ears.

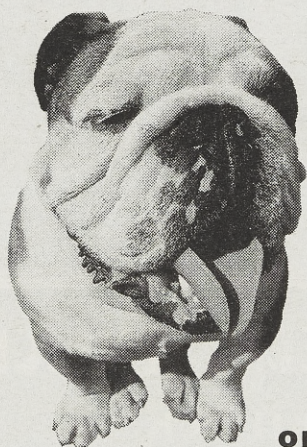

Monsoon Wedding opens April 1 in Sacramento at the Tower Theater. ▼

The Sex is Plentiful, But Falls Short

By ANDREA EDES
MGW STAFF

Infidelity by William Rooney. Harrington
Pleasure Press, New York, 1998. ISBN:
0789006219. 220 pages.

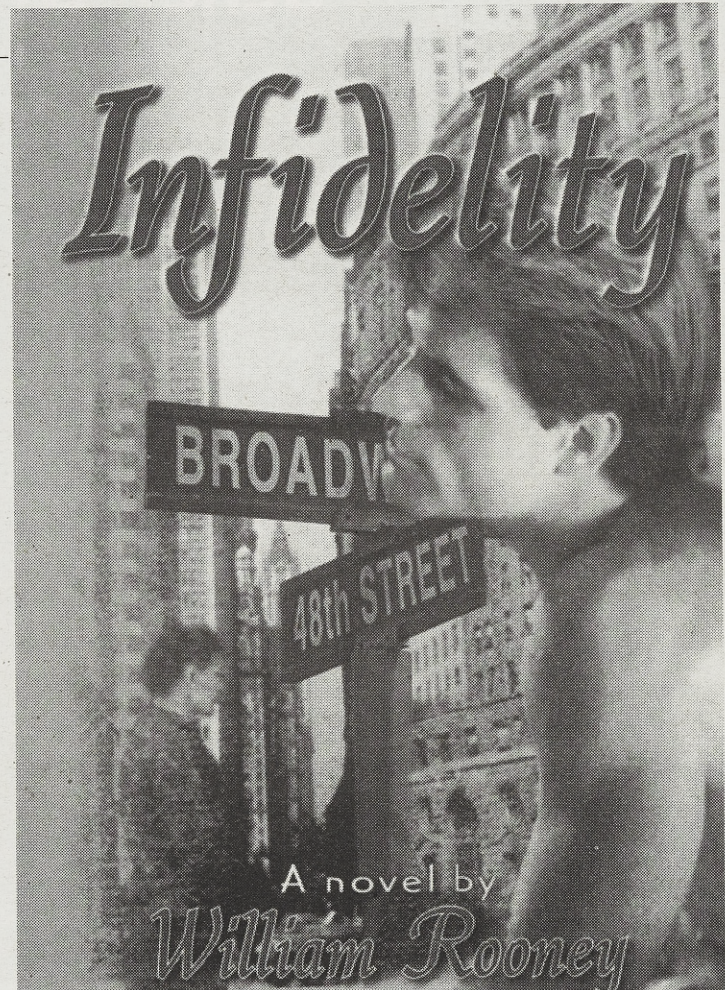

Part steamy romance, part serious novel, Infidelity tries to maintain a story line that, at first glance, seems intriguing. The plot is about an ambitious wannabe actor, Hank Carter, and his torrid love affair with a street smart hustler, Tom Clifden. Set in the raucous and turbulent sixties the story paints a picture of a society tussling with both free love and homophobia.

The randy couple spend their time together engaged in circus like pursuits of physical love asking themselves: Is this love or is this just sex? The answer is never clear in this book that tries to make the most of its theatrical (read: Broadway) backdrop.

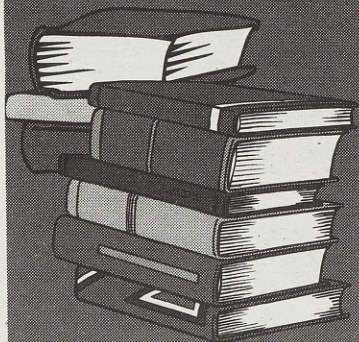

An interesting sideline in the plot occurs when, twenty-five years later, Tom receives notice of Hank's passing from Hank's first love, Eunice. Eunice and Tom begin a correspondence that tries to explain their varied experiences of Hank. In the end Tom comes to a far different conclusion of who Hank was.

Author William Rooney strives for a Hemingway-like brevity that ends up merely choppy. Despite a plot with good intentions, even the death of Bobby Kennedy, the bright lights of Broadway, and reminiscing about an unforgettable era cannot save pedestrian writing.

The sex, while plentiful, somehow lacks the human warmth of passion: it fails to add to the story line. Rooney's attempts at romance are dull and placid. In the hands of a more astute writer perhaps this tale could have lived up to its promising expectations, but in the end, Intimacy falls short in making us care about its cardboard characters. ▼

All About Parrots

BY RANDY JAMISON
MGW STAFF

Parrot is the name of a large group of colorful birds found chiefly in warm, tropical regions. They are popular as pets because they become affectionate and tame, and many can be taught to talk.

Parrots range from about three inches (eight centimeters) to over three feet (ninety centimeters) long. Most parrots have thick, hooked bills, and many have long tails. Parrots possess short legs and feet with two toes pointing forward and two pointing backward. This arrangement of the toes is called zygodactyl (zy-guh-DAK-tuhl). These strong, grasping feet enable parrots to grasp fruits and nuts, climb, and even hang acrobatically from tree branches.

Parakeet is a general name for many kinds of small to medium-sized parrots, especially those with long, pointed tails.

People should keep parrots in clean, warm cages large enough so that the birds can exercise. Parrots need water, fresh air, and a variety of foods, including seeds, fruits, and vegetables to stay healthy. When well cared for, parrots can live extremely long lives. Several kinds of large parrots are known to have lived for more than fifty years in captivity. Smaller species, such as parakeets, can live up to twenty or thirty years.

Parrots are among the most intelligent of birds and can learn to solve fairly complex problems. Many species of parrots are prized for their ability to repeat words or to learn complicated tricks. The gray parrot can learn new phrases within hours of teaching. It even has been shown to use human words or other symbols to communicate feelings such as hunger, fear, or boredom.

Parrots may carry the disease psittacosis, also called ornithosis, which can be transmitted to people who handle infected birds or breathe dust contaminated with their droppings. Because of this disease, all parrots must be examined by a health officer before being shipped into the United States and some other countries.

Many parrots are in danger of extinction, largely because people have destroyed much of their habitat. Some dealers sell illegally captured wild parrots at high prices. People should buy parrots only from licensed dealers who sell birds that were bred in captivity.

Many specialists now recognize three separate families of parrots, the Loriidae (lories and lorikeets), Cacatuidae (cockatoos and cockatiels), and Psittacidae (true parrots and parakeets). ▼

California tightens rules on HIV care...

Starting in July, new regulations will require managed care plans in California to refer people with HIV to doctors certified as AIDS specialists making the state the first to impose this requirement on private health insurers.

People with HIV stay healthier when treated by doctors who have experience with the virus. The new regulations define a specialist as someone who has cared for at least twenty people with HIV or AIDS in the past two years, and has demonstrated an understanding of recent developments in the field through testing, continuing medical education or other means, and take into account that managing HIV infection has become much more complicated since the advent of effective pharmaceutical "cocktails" six years ago. AIDS advocates applaud the new rules and expect them to influence the debate in other states.

FDA recommends one-year wait on some blood donations...

A Food and Drug Administration (FDA) panel recently voted to continue a policy that requires people who have been pierced or tattooed to put off donating blood for a year after the procedure, but said those who have received acupuncture can safely give blood. They say loose regulation of tattoo and piercing establishments means that non-sterile procedures might be used, increasing the potential for transmission of viruses.

They recommend that blood banks try to verify if tattoos or piercing were performed at a licensed facility. As a result of the requirements, blood banks estimate about 100,000 people are turned away from donation centers each year. The concern is that these people may have contracted viruses such as hepatitis B or hepatitis C through dirty needles, re-used tattoo inks, or unsterilized or improperly sterilized tattoo equipment, and that these infections may be too recent to be picked up by blood screening.

Recent studies by University of Texas researchers found that anyone who is tattooed, even in a commercial facility, is nine times more likely to be infected with hepatitis C than someone who hasn't been tattooed.

There's controversy, however, on the issue. The Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta says it does not feel it necessary for the CDC to recommend a routine ban on donations from people with tattoos or body piercing. Blood banks also say that new testing procedures now catch these viruses early in the infection process, which means contaminated blood can be discarded. But the FDA panelists say there still is a risk of contamination.

Upcoming meetings and events:

- April 3. Kaiser Permanente will hold a discussion forum on "Living with HIV, Living with Hope. Strength for the journey." Kaiser Hospital (Conference rooms 1 and 2 in the basement, by the cafeteria), 2025 Morse Avenue (near Arden). Light refreshments served at 6pm, presentation is from 6:30-8pm. Forum is free. Parking is free. Please RSVP to Sue Elam at 973-5230.
- April 8. Lambda Awards. On Monday, April 8 at 6:30 the tenth annual Lambda Awards program will be held at Club 21 (1119 21st St). The event honors folks in the Sacramento community who have made a significant difference in the lives of GLBT people. Tickets are $25 in advance available from Lambda Center (1927 L Street) or call 442-0185. Tickets are $30 at the door. The price includes a fun evening with friends as well as food, drinks, fabulous entertainment, silent auction, and of course, the announcement of the winners of the Lambda Awards.
- April 20-21. Bob Hamm's sixth Annual Spring Plant Sale will be held Saturday from 9am-5pm and Sunday 8am-3pm in the parking lot on 21st Street between X and W Streets. All of Bob's plant sales benefit local AIDS charities. He says he needs lots of pots of all sizes and shapes to start potting for the Fall benefit sale, so if you have extras, please bring them in when you come to shop at this event.
- May 5. The newly re-formatted Hand-to-Hand (H2H) Foundation, which arose intact from the ashes of its previous home with Sacramento AIDS Foundation, is proud to present its first fundraiser, "Cinco de Mayo," to be held at the elegant and prestigious Vizcaya (banquet facility located at 21st & T) on Sunday, May 5, from 5:30-10pm. H2H volunteers provide emotional and practical support for men, women, and children who are infected with, or affected by this disease. H2H also provides for immediate needs such as clothing, food, or legal services. In the theme of 'Cinco de Mayo,' they will be serving a fiesta buffet. The evening will consist of music, dancing, and a silent auction. Music will play until 9:30pm. Tickets are $25 (Visa and MasterCard accepted), and are available from the H2H offices on the second floor of CARES. Call Jennifer Novak at 914-6266 for reservations or info. Those interested in being "matched" to a person with HIV can also check with Jennifer (or program director Julianna Tachabana) to sign up for the next H2H training weekend.

- The Hand-to-Hand Foundation is also looking for someone with grant-writing experience willing to donate time to help get the newly-independent organization back on its feet. If you can help, please contact Jennifer Novak at 914-6266.
- May 9-12. Bob Hamm's Mothers Day Benefit for the Hand-to-Hand Foundation will be at 796 Del Paso Blvd. (near Northgate) from 11am-5pm each day. Also open until sunset on Saturday May 11 during nearby Second Saturday Art Tour. For info call Bob at 429-8315.
- May 11. Project Inform's "Ron Wilmot Bike Ride," seven miles through San Francisco. Ninety-five cents of every dollar raised supports HIV/AIDS programs. Info. Julie at 415-558-8669 ext. 223, projectinform.org
- June 2-8. Sacramento's CARES clinic will be a beneficiary of California AIDS Ride. Info. 800-825-1000, caresclinic.org

Critics denounce Bush's HIV budget proposal...

Research will receive an additional $300 million under President Bush's proposed 2003 budget, but prevention programs and financial assistance for AIDS meds would receive no additional funding. The proposed budget could be devastating for HIV-infected people in many states who do not qualify for Medicaid and have no private insurance to cover their medications, advocates say.

The AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP), which typically helps those in this situation, now needs $162 million to cover shortfalls for FY 2002 and FY 2003. ADAPs pick up nearly 600 new clients monthly, and six or seven states now have waiting lists. AIDS advocates hope Congress will improve on the president's proposed budget, as it has in the past.

Italy to provide marijuana-based drugs for pain relief...

Italy's national health system has been forced by a judge to allow the use of marijuana-based drugs for chronic pain. A Venice magistrate ruled on behalf of a woman with terminal lung cancer, who had asked permission of the high court since cannabis-based pain-killing drugs are banned in Italy.

The judge ruled that "when there is an insuppressible need for which the national health care doesn't offer alternative remedies, the individual's right to health," decreed in article 32 of the Constitution, becomes the paramount issue and thus allows the use of the drugs.

She ordered the local medical authorities to obtain the drugs abroad and then provide them free of charge to the woman within thirty days. This ruling brings Italy more in line with the rest of Europe. Perhaps the U.S. will take note.

Zerit /d4T changes label to reflect concerns...

The "Warnings, Precautions, Adverse Reactions, and Patient Information" sections of the Zerit (stavudine, d4T) label has been changed to describe the occurrence of lactic acidosis and neuromuscular toxicity in some people using the medication. [Lactic acidosis is a faster-than-normal accumulation of lactic acid in the blood, indicating possible inadequate oxygenation of muscles or other tissues. Neuromuscular toxicity refers to a possible poisoning of nerves or muscles.] Of the thousands of

Pink Loerie Carnival Promises Good Queen Fun

THE PINK LOERIE CARNIVAL

The 2002 Pink Loerie Carnival will be held May 22-26 in Knysna, South Africa.

KNYSNA, GARDEN ROUTE.

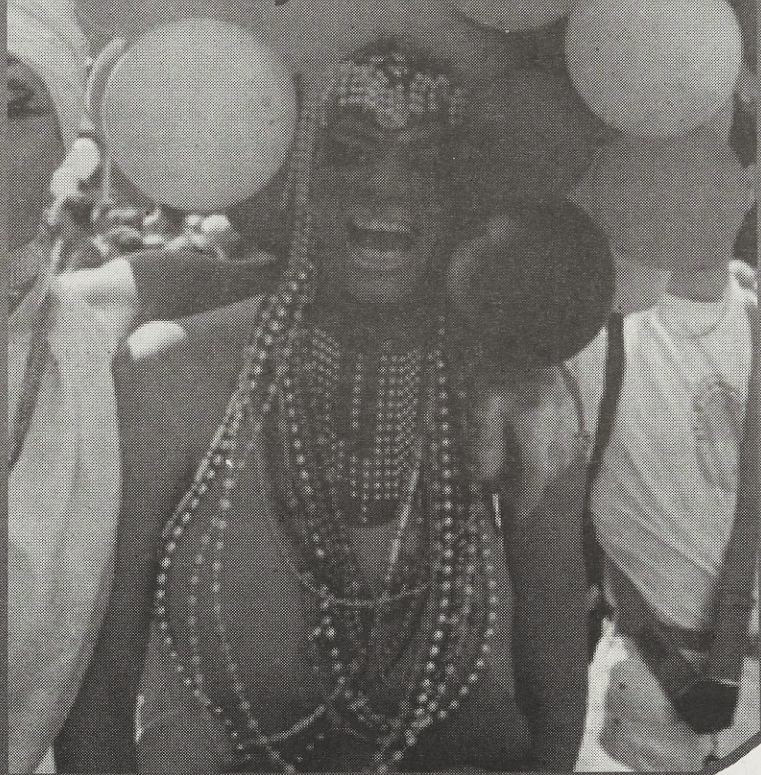

SOUTH AFRICA – The Pink Loerie Carnival, best described as the African Mardi Gras, will be held May 22-26 with events at locations all over Garden Route. For the first time, Pink Loerie will include a Fine Living Expo with interior designers, cooking demonstrations, wine tastings, and antiques show.

Concerts, art exhibits, comedians, films, street performers, skydivers, nightly dance parties, cabaret shows, and drag contests in Afrikaans and English are scheduled at venues all over Knysna. Amanda Strydom, Elsabe Zietsman, Lizz Meiring, Rocco de Villiers, Heidi Molentze, Karen Wessels, Lawrence Hilton, Jeremy Blackburn, Tessa Dowling, Peter Hayes, Rory Rootenberg, The Big Boy Trilogy, The Glitter Sisters, and The Tuck Shop Girls are just a few of the announced entertainers.

The highlight of this year's Pink Loerie will be the float parade. "Priscilla, Queen of the Garden Route" busses are expected from all four corners of South Africa. These buses will have live music, drag queens, and guests on board with video cameras. Pink Loerie plans to film their voyages through the country. ▼

23 Days Of Non-Stop Glamour, Culture, & Community in Germany

COLOGNE, GERMANY – Europride 2002, the largest GLBT event in Europe, will take place June 15 to July 7, 2002. More than one million visitors are expected with festivities culminating in the Europride parade on July 7 ending at the famous Cologne Cathedral.

Organizers suspect that visitors will have trouble choosing among over 120 events, including the choir performances, Pride Village street fair, live theater, song and dance contests, daily dance parties, fundraisers, sports, entertainment in the city's public squares, cabaret performances, and political discussions, scheduled during Europride 2002.

Cologne has a proud history as an open, tolerant, and multi-cultural metropolis. Europride enjoys the support of Lord Mayor Fritz Schramma as well as that of all political parties, the municipal government, and the local business community. The city was founded 2,000 years ago as an outpost of the Roman Empire on the Rhine River. Today its population of one million includes an estimated 100,000 homosexuals.

The theme for this year's demonstration and parade is "Cologne Celebrates Diversity." ▼

people on the medication, the FDA's Adverse Event Reporting System received reports of 25 people with neuromuscular weakness resembling Guillian-Barre syndrome [progressive muscular weakness of extremities] in association with lactic acidosis.

Twenty-two of the 25 were receiving anti-retroviral combinations containing stavudine. Six deaths occurred. Although stavudine/Zerit was not pinpointed as the precise cause, the stavudine label now includes a warning that its use may increase the risk of lactic acidosis, which represents a rare but serious adverse event.

The label now includes the symptoms of the newly described symptomatic hyperlactemia syndrome (such as abdominal pain, nausea and fatigue) and the recommendation for prompt suspension of all anti-retroviral therapy in suspected cases of lactic acidosis with or without neuromuscular weakness. Permanent discontinuation of stavudine should be considered in confirmed cases of lactic acidosis (lab measured with blood pH).

The wide distribution of anti-retroviral drugs over the past five years has resulted in a significant decline in AIDS-related opportunistic infections in Los Angeles County, say researchers attending a recent American Foundation for AIDS Research (AMFAR) meeting in San Francisco. The benefits of the drug therapy, however, have not reached all populations equally – African Americans, Latinos, and intravenous drug users are still at disproportionate risk for the infections. Los Angeles County Health Dept researchers analyzed the records of 2,200 people with HIV who received care at four clinics from 1993 to 2000. Before the arrival of anti-retroviral therapies in 1994, opportunistic infections (OIs such as PCP pneumonia) were usually the cause of death for people with HIV or AIDS. At the end of five years, the researcher found AIDS-defining opportunistic infections had declined steadily since anti-retroviral drugs were first made available in 1994, and by the year 2000, the OI rate had dropped by 90%! ▼ through a cycle and check carefully for leaks.

Carefully move the washer back toward the wall, keeping the hose free from kinks or tight bends. Allow at least four inches or eleven centimeters between the water connection and the back of your washer.

MGW STAFF

Would you spend $10 to $20 to keep your furnishings, floor coverings, and keepsakes intact?

Consider spending that money on new washing machine hoses, and you may be able to save yourself from a lot of inconvenience, mess and the loss of items that could never be replaced.

Washing machine hose failures cause as much as $150 million in damage each year to homes in the United States and Canada. But by taking a few precautions, you can greatly reduce your chances of getting soaked by a leaky hose.

Inspect those hoses!

Make it a point to periodically inspect your washing machine hoses for signs of wear and tear. Look for bubbles, cracks, or fraying. If you see any of these signs, turn off the water supply to your washer and replace the hoses.

Can I replace them myself?

Replacing washing machine hoses is as easy as hooking up a water hose to a spigot. And a new set of hoses costs between $10 and $20 at most home repair, hardware, and plumbing supply outlets.

To install new hoses, first shut off the water supply to your washing machine. Close the main shutoff valve in your house if a valve closer to your washing machine is not available. Unscrew the old hoses one at a time, draining any water into the washing machine.

Carefully line up the threads and screw the hoses on tightly. Once you've installed the new hoses, open the shutoff valves slowly. Run the machine

Anything else?

- Turn off the water supply to the washer if you plan to leave your home for more than one day. Most washing machine manufacturers recommend shutting the water off anytime you are not using the machine.
- Consider installing or having a professional plumber install a single-lever shutoff valve, which makes it easier to turn off the water supply to your washing machine.
- Another option is a water hammer arrestor, which absorbs increased water pressure when the electric valve in your washer shuts off. There are types that easily attach to the valves where your hose is connected.
- Make sure everyone in your house knows where the water shutoff valve is and how to use it. ▼

MGW Newspaper is looking for a super-human being!

Want A Job ?

MGW needs an Editor's Assitant

If you're still reading, you might be the wizard we need!

You're a Mac/Windows literate person who can handle stress without becoming stressed out, enter combat without being combative, and communicate without being patronizing.

In addition, you must be a veritable workaholic with moxie, an innovative self-starter, a hustler (...not the kind on the street corner), and crazy about the GLBT community.

You must have expert knowledge of Microsoft Word & Excel, Pagemaker, e-mail clients, and the internet plus experience in bookkeeping and journalism.

You must possess administrative and managerial skills and type 60 wpm.
WE WANT YOU! Full time.
Competitive salary. EOE
